No Need Longer To Defend Russia, Asserts Admiral

Ex-Ambassador Says Soviets Justify Faith In Them

Stalin and Russia evidently are justifying the faith he had placed in them according to Admiral Wm. H. Standley of La Mesa, former U. S. Ambassador to Moscow. Speaking before the Kiwanis club Tuesday evening, he said he had been a champion of Russia for a long time though he was not defending Communism.

In April 1942 he went to Russia as U. S. ambassador and was there for a year, during which time he got well acquainted with Stalin, he said.

The admiral, whose family lived in Ocean Beach for 31 years, listed a number of fears that the Allies had regarding Russia in this war, the first being that Germany would conquer the Soviets in a very few months. One by one these fears have proved to be unfounded, the speaker pointed out, stating that he had predicted that Russia would not surrender to the Germans, and that one of the greatest mistakes Hitler made was to invade Russia.

He indicated that he felt all the time that Russia would enter the war against Japan and recounted a conversation he had with Stalin on the matter, in which he suggested to Stalin that the Russians had a score to settle with the Japs because of Port Arthur. "Stalin told me that he was not worried about the Japs, that he did not like them, and that he did not trust them," Standley said.

He declared he wanted it understood that he was not championing Communism, but that he felt that Russia is proving by these recent events of the war that the Soviets are not a great menace to Democracy.

In closing he emphasized that there is real opportunity for the United States to help solve unemployment in these post-war years by producing and shipping to Russia consumers goods made in this country, also putting our merchant marine to good use in that capacity.

Frank B. McElwee was program chairman for the evening. Erling Hilmen of Pittsburg, Pa., a guest of his brother, Richard Hilmen, was a visitor at the meeting. McElwee stated that Admiral Standley in 1909 had built one of the first houses constructed in Ocean Beach.

President Jerry Sullivan announced that the regular Kiwanis meeting for next Tuesday would give way to the Eleventh Division Kiwanis meeting to be held at the Thursday club building, Point Loma Heights, on Friday evening, Sept. 7, and that the Kiwanis-Annex also would be guests at the meeting. The district has 12 clubs and the expected attendance may run as high as 200.

John Cole Saves Drowning Man By Using Fish Line

One of the most unusual rescues of a person from drowning any day took place Sunday morning, when John Cole, 42 West Point Loma Blvd., cast at casting lines for fish, his skill to the end that one man likely feel he owes his unidentified man who was riding behind a motor boat. The bay was thrown into the water and was crying for help when Cole spotted him. Expertly casting his fish line he hooked the helpless man by his bathing trunks and by careful manipulation allowed the force of the current to force the drowning man into shallow water. Cole then helped the man to shore and returned to his fishing in the bay. Capt. Charles Hardy of the police life-guarders reported the unusual rescue.

Point Loma High School Star Wins U. S. Tennis Title

Jean Doyle, Point Loma high school tennis star, and Margaret Varner of El Paso, Texas, are again the national champions in the girls tennis doubles, repeating their victory of last year. They retained their doubles title at Philadelphia Sunday when they defeated Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio and Connie Clifton of Rollins College, Miami, Fla. 6-2, 7-9 and 6-3.

Jean also came the closest she has thus far to winning the national girls singles tennis title in the finals of the girls singles. She and Shirley Fry, last year's winner, staged a 35-minute battle which was unusually close all the way through, Shirley finally winning, 6-2 and 6-3. The Ohio star was defending her title and now that she is 17 years old will not be eligible to again play for that tennis crown. Jean has another year in which to play for the girls singles title and indications are that she again will be the girl to beat in the singles finals.

Reports Exodus Low From Frontier Housing Project

Exodus of tenants from the Frontier Housing project is low, Manager Sunshine reported in his talk before the Midway Business Men's association August meeting, held Wednesday evening. A dinner at the Blue Lantern preceded the business session and speaking program. The manager indicated that as long as these houses are needed to relieve shortage of housing in San Diego there will be no abandonment of these federal built home units, which now house about 18,000 people. Around 35 families is the most that have left the project in any one day, Mr. Sunshine stated and as fast as they move out their places are being taken by Navy personnel.

Assemblyman Fred H. Kraft of Ocean Beach spoke to the group on the interesting legislation of the recent session of the state legislature at Sacramento.

Next meeting of the group will be held on Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, announces Noel Swetland, the association president.

Business District Zoning Discussed By C. C. Directors

Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting at the Lownes store Tuesday evening, discussed at length the need for changes in the boundaries of the Newport Ave. business district, the general idea being to expand the district in a part of the present boundaries and to contract it in others, and that there should be segregation of the business from the residential areas of Ocean Beach.

The discussion followed reading of reports of the post-war and recreation committees. A motion passed that the various directors make recommendations to the post-war planning committee on what changes would be best in the business district boundaries.

The board also approved the appointment by President J. R. Lownes of two directors to fill vacancies, those named being Richard Hilmen and F. F. Swan. Secretary Forest Whedon being ill was unable to attend the session.

Next regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce membership will be held on Tuesday evening, Sept. 11.

Registration of students new to Point Loma high school will occur on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 5, 6 and 7 from 9 a. m. to 12 noon, announces Principal L. L. Bloomer. Students who are promoted from Dana Junior high school need not report until the regular opening of school which will be at 8:30 a. m. on Monday, September 10, he says.

For the first time Point Loma opens as a three-year senior high school comprising grades 10, 11 and 12.

A staff of 40 teachers will be on hand to instruct classes with a total enrollment that may approximate 1000. Shifting populations due to post-war adjustments make accurate predictions of enrollment difficult. With few exceptions the personnel of the teaching staff remains the same as last year.

Miss Jean Lyman, formerly librarian at Memorial Junior high school, will serve as Librarian in place of Mrs. Frances Neill, retired.

Mrs. Martha Davis, who has been on leave of absence for a year, returns to her position as school nurse.

250,000 War Vets Already Returned To Work In State

California already has absorbed into civilian life, civilian jobs and self-employment more than a quarter of a million war veterans, with less than one percent of them resorting to G. I. unemployment compensation.

This was reported today to Governor Earl Warren by Colonel Alexander R. Heron, state director of Reconstruction and Reemployment, who pointed out that the gigantic task of bringing war veterans into a smooth transition from their wartime regimentation into a peacetime economy in California has been well started. At the same time, he cautioned against any let-down in planning for jobs, both for veterans and other civilians, emphasizing that large numbers of these veterans have found jobs in war industries and soon must find other jobs.

Figures obtained from William T. Sweigert, executive secretary to Governor Warren and chairman of the committee on demobilized service men and women of the State Reconstruction and Reemployment commission, and from James G. Bryant, chairman of the State Employment Stabilization commission, show the surprising results of California's plans to adjust war veterans to civilian life.

Sweigert reported that, as of August 10, 253,276 discharged service men and women were in California. Approximately 35 percent of these were inducted into the armed forces in other states.

Bryant reported that, as of the same date, 2,295 of these veterans were drawing G. I. unemployment compensation from the federal government. Bryant's commission acts as the agent for the federal government in the payment of these claims.

Friends of Mrs. Lawrence Kretzler of 1641 Cable St. will be pleased to know that the eye operation she underwent at the Naval hospital several weeks ago is reported by attending physicians to be a complete success. Kraft Drug Store Celebrates 25th Anniversary Here

Kraft's drug store on Monday next, Labor Day, will celebrate the 25th anniversary of the founding of this popular and outstanding business house in Ocean Beach.

Fred Kraft, though at one time owning two drug stores down town, early saw the possibilities for development and growth of Ocean Beach. On Labor Day, 1920, he established the store that bears his name on the present location at the corner of Newport Ave. and Dacon St. He had a third drug store in town later but sold all three and concentrated his business interests on the Ocean Beach store.

In Second Building

The Kraft store began in a frame building on the present location. In 1926, Oct. 1, he moved the old structure across the street, where it is now an annex to the Hilmen furniture store and began construction of the two-story modern store in which the business has been housed since the grand opening of Feb. 1, 1927.

Starting in 1920 with only one employee, Kraft expanded the business until 17 employees are now needed.

Kraft came here from Brooklyn, N. Y. in 1919. He was with the Navy at the time, being a chief pharmacist's mate. In all he served with the Navy for nine years and was released Dec. 19, 1922.

He is a member of the National Druggists association, of the executive committee of the California Druggists association and served for four years as president of the San Diego County Druggists association. He is a present serving his second term as assemblyman from the 78th district and has already announced his candidacy for the state senate in the next campaign.

San Diego Better Business Bureau Issues Warning

The Better Business Bureau of San Diego under date of August 27, issues the following warning regarding fraudulent sales of Christmas greeting cards.

"Any day now you may expect calls from sales people, showing impressive samples of Christmas cards. Some of these people may not be reliable or dependable. In one Bureau city a 15-year-old boy showed such a sample line throughout the downtown office buildings, secured many orders and collected large cash deposits. He claimed to represent a company in Detroit.

"In checking with the Detroit Better Business Bureau it was learned that no such company is located there. These deposits are lost and some purchasers may not learn of the fraud until too late to get a supply of cards elsewhere in time for this Christmas."

Mrs. Edith S. Reich of 4721 Newport Ave. has received word of the arrival of a new grandson. The little lad was born to Mrs. Reich's son, Jack and wife, at McCloud, Calif., and weighed 9 pounds 2 ounces at birth, on August 23. The couple expects to name him Jack Jr. after his father, who is now in the Navy at Shoemaker, Calif., awaiting assignment to sea duty.

Completion, Dana Jr. Annex, Looked For By Nov. 1st

In Meantime Double Session Plan To Be Followed

The new $280,000 addition to Dana Junior high school is nearing completion, reports Principal Clarence R. Swenson. It was originally scheduled to be completed by October 1, but the building has been held up by lack of materials such as lumber and by lack of skilled workmen for certain types of construction work. A strenuous effort is being made by the contractor to have the shop wing ready by the opening of school September 10, but the remainder of the building including the cafeteria, home economics laboratories, music halls and mechanical drawing classrooms will not be ready before about November 1, according to present outlook, says Swenson.

Until such time as the building is completed the school will be run on a double session plan, with eighth and ninth grade classes held mornings from 8 o'clock until 12 and seventh graders classes held afternoons from 12:30 p. m. until 4:30 p. m. Most of the students will eat their lunches at home but there will be cafeteria service available for those who find it more convenient to eat at school because their mothers are working or for other reasons. All San Diego schools will begin their fall schedule on Monday morning, September 10, but it is requested that seventh graders not report to Dana Junior High before noon of that day since it will be impossible to take care of them during the morning session.

Students who were registered at Dana last spring will find their programs all made out and ready for them at the opening of school. Sixth graders who attended Ocean Beach Elementary school last spring or other public elementary schools of the Point Loma area also have registered at the Junior high and need not report for registration before the opening of school. For students not enrolled in San Diego schools of this area last year an opportunity for pre-school registration will be given next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings from 9 a. m. until 12 noon. New students from out of town are urged to report with their parents if possible and so have registration completed before the busy opening day.

Stores here generally are putting up signs to the effect that they will be closed on Monday, all day.

The local bank, as usual, also will have a day off for this holiday and also will be closed all day on the following Monday (Sept. 10) in observance of California Admission-to-the-Union Day.

Daughter of Local Lady In Limelight

Mrs. Meinard H. Schur of 4866 Kensington Dr., daughter of Mrs. Ona E. Pitcock of 4749 Del Monte Ave., was in the limelight again this week when she was given a two-column long story in a San Diego newspaper, telling of her remarkable work of relaying short wave radio messages from American prisoners of war to their relatives in the states. The article states that during the 44 months since Jan. 19, 1942 that she carried on this work that she has brought messages of hope to relatives in America of more than 20,000 prisoners of war in Japanese hands. She evolved a system of typing, learned shorthand and wrote directly to more than 20,000 addresses broadcast by the Japanese radio during the three and one half years.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By COL. ROBERT L. SCOTT
WNU Features.

CHAPTER XII: Scott goes on so many missions with his "Old Exterminator," as he has now nicknamed his Kittyhawk, and cuts a Jap battalion to bits.

CHAPTER XIII: The AVG are told they are to be inducted into the U. S. army. Scott returns to India and continues his single ship raids on the Japs. He is now known back in the States as "the one man air force."

CHAPTER XIV: Col. Haynes is moved to China to head the bomber command under Gen. Chennault and Scott is left alone as commanding officer of the Ferry Command. Scott is ordered to report to Gen. Chennault in Kunming, China, as commanding officer of the 23rd Fighter Group.

CHAPTER XV: Col. Scott is ordered to proceed to the Kweilin area to take charge of fighter operations.

CHAPTER XVI: He intercepts a flight of Jap planes and down a bomber. His tank is empty but he succeeds in landing it dry.

We watched them float raft after raft of long thick bamboo poles to the buoy that now marked the spot where Johnny's fighter had sunk. Mentally we set down the raising of the ship as impossible and got ready to mark it off the list. But the Chinese went on cheerfully with their work. I saw them pull themselves down into the river with ropes tied to the fighter, taking with them an eighteen-foot length of bamboo. They would slide this under the wing of the ship and lash it into place with grass rope. Hundreds of times they did this, until a perfect mat of bamboo was under the entire wing of the little P-40. Then they lashed the mat to the fuselage and started another row under the wing. Through it all we smiled at the wasted effort, and I heard men say, "Oh well, there are lots of Chinese anyway. Let them work."

But toward the second day's close, I began to wonder, and that evening as darkness settled over the river I went out to watch their tireless labor. Suddenly there was a movement among the rivermen to tighten the four cables that tied the fighter to the barge, and I saw the canopy and the prop of Johnny's fighter ship rise above the surface of the river. Involuntarily I cheered, and I felt a lump in my throat as if I had swallowed something; as I tried to talk to the officer with me I felt my lip tremble with emotion. But the Chinese never cheered or got excited; they remained as stolid as ever. They seemed to know that they were going to be successful, and had merely been waiting for the crazy Americans to quit playing around with all the strange gadgets.

They had floated the 9100 pounds of P-40, and now they towed it to shore. Our salvage crew put the wheels down in the water, and with the aid of about a hundred coolies the ship was pulled up the river bank and then out to the field. We counted eleven bullet holes through the engine and in the cockpit. Next day the ground crews began the work of repair. Days had to pass before an engine could be installed, and more time had to go by before we got it completely worked over. But in the end it flew again in combat against the Japanese—thanks to labor of good mechanics, and the bravery of a gallant officer, the unswerving patience and devotion of those brave Chinese coolies and rivermen who had never heard of the word "impossible."

When I first went to China I think I imagined in my short stay that I would gradually change the simple Chinese. I used to rant and rave about this and that, and try to show the houseboys better and more efficient ways to do things. But they never changed, and finally I realized that they were changing me. Now in raising this ship they had used a method three thousand years old. I have read since how they had employed it in Burma, long years before, when the great temple bell weighing over thirty tons was thrown into the deep lake to save it from the heathen. When the heathen had occupied the land and had himself been beaten in due time, probably by the country and by time itself, they had come back to the lake, these Chinese, and with bamboo poles had raised the thirty tons of metal.

"My armament sergeant and the crew chief of the fighter."

During my stay in China I have watched the Chinese being bombed, and have seen them go out and pick their dead from among the ruins of their cities. Then wait bravely for the Jap to come again, while they went on scratching out a road with their bare hands, stoically working and watching for material to come over that road with which to fight the enemy. Waiting patiently, as though they knew that some day they would have a chance to fight the Japanese who have tried to exterminate them.

I've seen a Chinese woman run into a bomb crater, pull the dismembered pieces of her child together, and wipe the dirt from the face of her dead husband, a look of misery on her face. Then, when she saw me staring, she stood there and smiled. When I glanced at General Chennault with a question on my face, he said, "Don't interpret that wrong now, Scotty. She's showing you she can still smile, no matter what happens."

Even with the small fighter and bomber force that we now had in China, the people had taken a new lease on life. Every time we had an air battle over Hengyang they would capture another town along the Yangtze or near the lakes around Nanchang. I think we realized then, as General Chennault had realized for a long time, that all these people needed was a chance, with air support for their ground armies and modern equipment for their soldiers.

Our small force had put new life into them. They had plaques embroidered in commemoration of the battles that we fought. These would sometimes represent the American eagle holding the flags of America, Britain, Russia, and China. In Chinese characters would be a poetic account of the battle that the pilot or the squadron had fought. As we drove along the roads in our jeeps to the field for the alert of the "Jin-bao," the little children would hold their thumbs up and call again and again, "Ding-hao."

More and more we asked ourselves, "What couldn't we do with plenty of equipment for the Chinese ground armies, and us over their heads with adequate air support?" Would the day ever come when we could make an attack with a force that was a credit to the greatest country in the world? Towards the middle of August, as our pilots died in the old ships that we had, we had begun to doubt it.

For no, we didn't win all the time. Sometimes we lost, even when we traded one for ten. We lost because the Jap could replace his lost planes; we could not. It was more than losing ships—sometimes our pilots died in the unequal battles.

One day in August, Johnny Alison was leading six P-40's to intercept a larger number of Japanese coming in against Hengyang from both Hankow and Canton. When interception was made, the Japs had fifty-three planes. They were in three waves, so of course Johnny didn't get them all together and let them take shots at his little force. He circled in the sun, waiting for the opportunity to strike, and get away with all his ships. Then it came. He dove through nine of them, and his six planes shot down four of the enemy. In his second attack, after diving away and climbing back into the sun, he sent four of his six down against them and then came on with the other two, just in case the enemy should follow the small attacking force out of the familiar "circling movement" that the Jap with his ever superior numbers always went into.

The little force of fighters knocked down another Zero. But one of the P-40's was in trouble. Johnny said later that he had seen the enemy ships following the Forty, but thought the closest one was another P-40. Too late he realized the error and went to help the pilot, whom he knew by then to be a boy named Lee Minor. The Zero rode the American fighter's tail and shot it down with cannon, and the P-40 burned. Johnny watched for a chute to open, but nothing happened.

As we drove out along the highway that afternoon—Baumler and Alison, Jack Belden of Life magazine and I—we were hoping by some fluke that Minor had bailed out and that Johnny had failed to see him do it, but we suspected that we were merely being optimistic. The farther we drove down the road to the South, towards the battle area of the morning, the more we expected what we found. Finally we saw it.

Four Chinese coolies were walking towards the nearest village, carrying an object lashed to poles, and carrying it in the old way of the East, with the poles over their shoulders. The thing they were carrying was wrapped in grass matting, but I saw the bare feet sticking out. We stopped the jeep and called to the coolies. Jack Belden spoke to them in Chinese and took the cover from the face. It was Lieutenant Minor, and of course he was dead. His ship in exploding had evidently thrown him out and opened his chute, but the explosion had killed him. He had definitely not crashed with the ship, for there was hardly a mark on his body.

Wrapping Minor in his parachute, we took him back in a rickety Chinese bus that we commandeered. We knew we'd miss Minor and men like him. He'd been one of the up-and-coming younger pilots, and had already shot down one Japanese plane.

We took Minor's body to the Catholic mission across the river, and bought one of the old, ancient-looking Chinese coffins, made out of wood about six inches thick, with corners that turned up like a pagoda roof; they must weigh two hundred pounds. We put Minor's body inside and held a simple service; for you have to work fast in temperatures of a hundred and eight, when the humidity is just about a hundred. Then we filled the casket with quicklime, sealed it up on our brother officer, covered it with ten layers of heavy bricks to protect it from robbers and rats, and left it there to wait for the next transport to Kunming.

The headquarters in Yunnan is the burial ground for all of our pilots killed fighting against the Japanese. There on the plateau in Yunnan is the only memorial ground the 23rd Fighter Group will ever have. Our pilots lie beneath a gray slate slab from the earth of Yunnan, under the wings of the Chinese and the American Air Forces. They lie there in the shadow of a little Buddhist temple which for all practical purposes is the Christian temple of our God.

Captain A. J. Baumler was the best operations officer I ever saw. He could go out and shoot down Japs all day, then come in and read the combat reports of twenty pilots, digest them all, and write out the most comprehensive report in the world—one that would give higher headquarters a ringside picture of the fight that had taken place.

"Ajax" was from New Jersey. He had fought for nearly two years with the Loyalists in Spain, and had shot down seven Messerschmitts and Fiat's in that war; when he became an ace in the 23rd Group he was the first man in the war who had shot down German, Italian, and Japanese aircraft. Ever since America had entered the war he had led a hectic existence. Months before December 7th, he had left America from California to join the AVG and General Chennault, as a Lieutenant in the Air Corps. He had been stopped in Hawaii for a month and then had received permission to continue on.

CHAPTER XIX

But on the day when he finally got out on his way to what he wanted to do most, the Japs struck at Pearl Harbor. Ajax had just landed at Wake Island, and, soldier that he was, he had reported to the Marine Commander for duty. He was having breakfast with the CO (CO means Commanding Officer), Major Devereaux, when the Japanese attack came to Wake.

Ajax used to say that the unusual strength he demonstrated that morning was due to the heavy supply of vitamin pills he had taken. As the first bomb hit the runway of the field, he ran with the others for the door and the safety of the slit trenches on the outside. The door opened inward, but Ajax opened it outward, taking the screen, the door, and most of that end of the flimsy building with him. Part of the glass hit him in the face—and that cut was the only wound he received in the bombing. But he carried the scar with him when I last saw him in China.

Baumler got out of Wake Island the next day on the last clipper, but to join the AVG he was no longer going West. It was now necessary to go all the way back and around the other way, towards the East. Anyway he managed to go by way of Washington and got promoted to Captain. I believe if Ajax had stayed in Washington just one more day, he would have been a Major. After seeing Ajax Baumler in a few months, I wish that he had gotten to be a Major before he came to China, for he certainly was a fighter pilot.

During the month of our battle of Hengyang, I saw Captain Baumler do some of the nerviest things I've ever seen any man accomplish. We had a few ships that had been strafed badly on the ground; some of them had been shot to pieces, and in others the engines or hydraulic systems had been damaged. In most cases these same ships couldn't be got off the ground when the Japs came over; sometimes they were caught three or four times by the Zeros, and consequently they were in a continual state of repair.

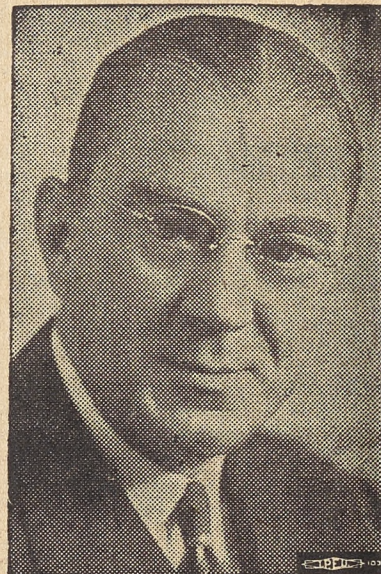

One of these was old Number 104, the ship that Ajax had been flying. The ground crew had worked on it for days, but whenever they'd have it just about ready to be taken back to the factory in Kunming for overhaul, the Japs would catch it again. Finally one morning Ajax must have said, "The hell with it." For when the "Jin-bao" came he went and got into the crippled fighter to take off before the Japs could get there to strafe it again. He told me later that he was tired of seeing it sitting on the ground as a target; whether it would fly or not, he was going to get it taxying as fast as it would go and at least make it harder to hit than it had been in the revetment.

Well, Ajax did better than taxi—he got off. But the story of it all reached me later on.

I was on the ground that day, and didn't see it. But I heard Ajax talking on the radio, and I heard his six guns when he caught one of the Zeros. Just a little later I saw the trail of black smoke that marked the enemy ship going down. I was glad to hear Ajax talking that morning; for a minute I'd thought that smoke might be he, going down in that luckless Number 104. All the time he'd been flying the ship he'd been having to pump the landing-gear up manually, for the hydraulic system had been shot up by the Jap strafe days before. Added to this, an exertion which is no pleasant task at fighting altitudes, was a more painful experience. The cards were stacked even more heavily against Ajax in this jinx ship, for his electrical system was shorting out.

Azura Vista Has
400 Family Units
C. C. Report Shows

Azure Vista federal housing project has 400 family units of the demountable type, according to a survey by the research department of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce made public this week.

Other figures given on Azure Vista are: Total area 55.79 acres, federal "in-lieu" taxes paid by the government include $14,069 to the county and school district and $8,156 to the city of San Diego. The project is listed as one of the nine in the San Diego metropolitan area that are owned by the federal government.

Summarizing the total for the area, the survey shows that there are 16,307 civilian units and 2,320 Navy units and, in addition, 2,182 units under Navy administration, making a total of 20,809 public housing units. They have an average occupancy of nearly four persons to the unit, making an estimated total of 82,322 people in the metropolitan area housed in public units.

The number of these federal housing projects total 22, covering an area of about 2,900 acres. Of the 22 in the area, nine are owned by the federal government, 11 are leased and two are partly owned and partly leased.

"In-lieu" tax payments for the fiscal year of 1944-1945 produced a total of $679,596 in the area. According to Assessor Crowell Eddy this represents the equivalent of tax payments at the regular rate ($5.45) on an assessed valuation of approximately $12,500,000. Additional projects built during the present fiscal year have increased the assessed valuation to $14,653,610, which will raise the estimated "in-lieu" tax payments to nearly $800,000.

As civilian meat supplies grow leaner, fish will again come to the rescue as a good protein food. Fish is easier to prepare than meat, and it bakes, broils, fries and cooks quickly. Fish is at its best when it's perfectly cooked.

Cut fillets in six servings. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Lay in shallow, well greased pan. Make sauce of 1 tablespoon butter, flour, water, lemon juice and mustard, stirring constantly until thickened. Add remaining tablespoonful of butter to bread crumbs and sprinkle over fish. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for about 20 minutes.

When much fish is served, it is good to vary the method of cooking and serve it as a soufflé occasionally.

Fish Soufflé.
(Serves 6)

1 package flounder or similar fish
½ cup boiling water
¼ teaspoon salt
Heavy cream
2½ tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
½ teaspoon pepper
4 egg yolks, stiffly beaten
4 egg whites stiffly beaten

Cook the fillet of flounder in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain, reserving liquid.

Add the cream to make 1 cup. Separate fish into fine flakes. Combine butter, flour, salt and pepper. Add cream and cook until smooth and thick. Add fish and cool. Blend in beaten egg yolks, mixing well. Fold in beaten whites. Turn into buttered casserole. Place in a pan of hot water and bake for 1 hour in pre-heated 350-degree oven.

Stuffings add interest to any type of fish. Bread stuffings or those with celery, mushrooms, or chestnuts may be used. In the following, rice stuffing is suggested with pike:

Fish With Rice Stuffing
(Serves 4)

1 3-pound pike
2 tablespoons butter
½ pound mushrooms, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup bacon drippings
1 cup cooked rice
Salt and pepper
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
2 beaten eggs

Place fish in shallow pan and broil under moderate heat for 15 minutes, basting with the 2 tablespoons of butter. Turn; broil 10 minutes. Season with salt and pepper. Cook mushrooms and onions in bacon drippings until tender. Add rice, seasonings and eggs; mix well and mound the stuffing in center of serving platter. Place fish, skin side up over stuffing. Fish may also be baked with stuffing, in a moderate oven for 45 minutes, basting with butter. Garnish with lemon slices.

Cheese sauce is an excellent accompaniment for fish as in this case:

*Baked Fish With Cheese Sauce.
(Serves 4)

1 chopped onion
¼ pound sliced cheese
1 2½-pound pike, halibut or perch
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk

Place onion and half of cheese in fish cavity. Place remaining cheese on top of fish. Add remaining ingredients and pour over fish. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) for 25 minutes.

Christian Science Lesson Topic 'Mind'

"Mind" will be the subject of the Sunday Lesson-Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from Daniel: "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his: he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding."

According to Matthew, "Jesus went about all the cities and villages, . . . preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing . . . every disease among the people . . . And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirit . . . These twelve Jesus sent forth, and commanded them . . . As ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils: freely ye have received, freely give."

In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy says, "Science not only reveals the origin of all disease as mental, but it also declares that all disease is cured by divine Mind." Jesus instructed his disciples whereby to heal the sick through Mind instead of matter."

LABOR DAY—

Labor Day of 1945 comes just at the time when America's vast army of workers are completing the greatest production job in all history. Never before has so much been produced in so short a time. Labor's magnificent achievements since Pearl Harbor helped to give our Nation irresistible power in the struggle against tyranny and oppression.

Now comes the even greater job of building the things for a prosperous peace; millions of homes and automobiles; more millions of radios and refrigerators; and almost endless millions of tools, gadgets, instruments, machines and other equipment that will give our people a fuller, freer existence in the years ahead.

Intelligent labor leaders know that in spite of the readjustment that lies ahead in the return to full peacetime operation, there is little occasion for fear. They know, too, that the interests of the man who works are synonymous with those of the man who invests his capital in a business venture, that one cannot prosper without the other, and that true prosperity can come only through the full activities of private enterprise rather than through any program of government made-work.

This Labor Day, for the first time in four years, the workers of America will feel free take the time for their traditional march.

And theirs will be the march of a conquering army for they, too, have been soldiers—good soldiers of the home front—who by their toil and sweat have hastened the day of triumph.

END OF LEND-LEASE

Uncle Sam is back in the role he played after World War I—that of Uncle Shylock. It seems that no matter how much the "rich" Uncle does for his relatives they simply aren't satisfied.

Last week when President Truman brought Lend-Lease to an end after we had spent some 40 billion to aid other nations in the fight against totalitarianism (we got back about 5 billion in reverse Lend-Lease), one might have thought that there would be a chorus of "Thank you" from the countries we had helped. But what happened?

Well, the British who have received the lion's share of the aid said they simply couldn't believe that we would stop sending them free supplies at this time. Yet they knew that Lend-Lease was a wartime measure and could hardly expect us to continue it indefinitely.

We can well appreciate the financial worries Britain has at this time. The war has cost her plenty. Her future outlook is not bright. It is true that she performed the world a great service by holding out against the Germans in 1940 and 1941. But we think we have pretty well paid our share of that debt not only in billions of dollars, but in the million or more casualties suffered among America's fighting men.

What is more, the rise of Hitler to a place where he threatened the world was largely due to the indifference of Britain, just as the rise of militaristic Japan was permitted by the indifference of the United States.

It should be remembered that Lend-Lease money doesn't come out of a limitless reserve fund, but that this Nation is going ever deeper into debt to provide such aid—and the American taxpayer must foot the bill.

A continuation of the thankless "We-want-more!" chorus will do more to revive isolationism in America than anything else ever could.

ACTION FOR CHILD CARE NEEDED Guest Editorial

We have been told that the government operated day child care centers located in San Diego and vicinity on the school grounds will be forced to be closed at the end of September unless funds will be forthcoming to continue them. It is possible that the state will see fit to continue the operation of at least the most centrally located of them. For instance the one at Ocean Beach takes care of children whose mothers are not defense workers. The government is withdrawing the funds in the idea that these centers are mainly for defense workers. A large percentage of the women enrolling their children are service wives and the war is definitely not over for them. Many of their husbands will be kept for the occupational duties in foreign lands and it will be necessary for these women to continue in their jobs to make the family ends meet. Many women have lost husbands and will therefore be the sole support of their families.

The child care centers have accredited teachers directing the children and the children are taught hobbies, occupational pastimes besides the continuous supervision given. Ocean Beach has been fortunate in having the services of Mrs. Grace Massey, head teacher; Mrs. Edith Lambert, Mrs. D. W. Ketchen and Mrs. Fitzpatrick who put the children's interests ever ahead.

It is hoped that a measure can be introduced at the special session of the state legislature meeting in several weeks and put on the agenda to operate under the State Board of Education set-up.

Suggestion is made that those interested in seeing this worth while community project continue, write our state assemblymen, Mrs. Kathryn T. Niehouse, Charles Stream and Fred Kraft and our state senator, Ed Fletcher, urging the need.

—Mrs. Macconnell.

THE PARTY LINE

By Evelyn Macconnell

Phone B-8560

Next Monday, due to Labor Day there will be no meeting of Pt. Loma chapter, O. E. S. 490.

Ralph Lukehart of 4686 Voltaire St. left Monday for China to bring his wife and baby home from a week's visit with his parents.

Rev. Myron Insko and W. J. Burrows of La Jolla spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Los Angeles on business for the Goodwill Industries.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kline of 2319 Seaside St. spent the weekend in Los Angeles where Mr. Kline participated in a golf tournament.

The young people's social group of the Baptist church meets the first and third Fridays of each month will meet this (Friday) evening at the church. As this is an open affair all young people are invited to be present. Charles Rolke has been appointed master of ceremonies for the coming year.

William Colahan, S1/c USNR, is home from overseas and is stationed at Camp Elliott. He was welcomed home by his wife, Beverly Trask Colahan of 4665 Voltaire St. Mrs. Colahan had a narrow escape from injuries last Friday when the car she was driving collided with a bus at Sunset Cliffs and Voltaire Sts., and knocked her car into another car.

Ted Macconnell of 2303 Seaside St., is starting a week's vacation today from his office duties at the Cost Office, City of San Diego. He plans to sling a lot of paint while he is home remodeling the interior of his home.

Sgt. Mildred Lamb of the WACS, stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill., writes her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Water Lamb of 4929 Narragansett Ave., that she expects to continue to remain in the service for at least six or eight months.

With gas rationing a thing of the past, we even hear of our popular service station owner and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jones of 4805 Newport Ave., enjoying a trip. They left on Sunday for Yosemite park for a vacation lasting until Labor Day.

Lieut. and Mrs. G. F. Cole of 4666 Del Monte Ave., this week received a letter from Mrs. Samuel M. Cutcheon stating that Mr. McCutcheon is ill in a hospital in Tucson, Ariz. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon are old time residents of Ocean Beach, previously owning property on Seaside and Etiwanda streets. They said that properties to make their home in Arizona with the idea that the change of climate would be beneficial.

The meeting of the Altar Society of Sacred Heart church will be postponed one week due to Labor day holiday falling on the regular meeting day. Instead the ladies will meet in the parish hall on September 10 at 7:30. Father D. L. Williams of San Diego will be the speaker and his subject will be "Catholic Action." Refreshments will be served by the birthday committee. The sewing group will meet as usual on Tuesday, September 4 with a potluck luncheon served at noon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Davis and children of 4773 Voltaire St., will leave next Friday for a trip taking them as far north as Boise, Idaho where they will visit with Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Reed. On their return south they will stop over for a visit with the parents of Mr. Davis in Oakland. They expect to return home by September 23. During their absence their daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Patterson and Miss Janet Davis will occupy their home. Phyllis and Janet will be joined by their cousins the Misses Loretta and Beverly Grim of Colton, who will remain with them until the opening of school.

Mr. and Mrs. Zorn Zeddies, 4938 Niagara Ave., were hosts last Saturday at a party given in honor of the birthdays of J. Phillip Zeddies and little Patty Ann Cosseboom. Patty was 1 year old and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cosseboom. J. Phillip was five years old and is the son of Mrs. and Mrs. Art Zeddies. Enjoying refreshments of sandwiches, potato salad, fruit punch and birthday cakes were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cosseboom, Melvin Zeddies, Mrs. Jack Cummings, the honorees and the host and hostesses. Presentation of gifts were made.

On September 8 the Children's Day Care center here at Ocean Beach will be transferred to Frontier Housing Day Care center. Although Azure Vista still maintains a fine care center this will leave Ocean Beach proper without one and it has definitely disturbed the mothers whose children are enrolled there. Such a service is badly needed and would be such an opportunity for someone to open a private or cooperative group to take care of children before and after school and for smaller children the entire day. If funds are not forthcoming from either the government or the state all care centers in the country will close after the end of October. Anyone interested in this suggestion may call B-8560 evenings.

Seventeen members of the Birthday club of the First Baptist church of San Diego met at the home of Mrs. Eva Vaughan, 1420 Ebers St., for a luncheon and farewell party last Friday. A luncheon was served pot luck, with cake and ice cream served in honor of the birthday of one of the members. The farewell was given to Mrs. Mary Bishop, sister of Mrs. Vaughan. Mrs. Bishop, who has lived here for the past 25 years at 4675 Coronado Ave., will leave the first of next month to make her home in Whittier where she can be near four of her daughters. The group presented her with a going-away gift. Among the local ladies attending the party were: Mrs. Annie Mulville, Mrs. Fred Beck, Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Vaughan.

Chaplain Myron C. Insko, Lieut. (jg) USNR and Mrs. Insko came down from San Francisco Sunday to the home of Lieut. Insko's parents where he will spend a 10-day leave. Mrs. Insko will remain here. For the past two weeks she has been in San Francisco with her husband. Rev. and Mrs. Myron Insko were fortunate in seeing both their sons this past week-end. At 4 a. m. Sunday morning Ensign Mark Insko of the U. S. Maritime service came home to stay just until 5 p. m. Sunday afternoon. He had to return to his ship in San Francisco that will leave this week. Also guests at the Insko home on Brighton Ave. are two grandnieces of Mrs. Insko, Miss Marie Bedford and Miss Edona Myers of Seward, Alaska, who will make their home with them and attend Pt. Loma high school. This coming week-end with the Labor day holiday, Rev. and Mrs. Insko and the two visiting young ladies will spend a quiet time at their cabin at Julian.

Mrs. LADY BUG
("Lady Bird")

One of the great destroyers of aphids is the Lady Beetle. Her larvae are especially active in this help for the gardener. Her name comes from the Middle Ages when this beneficial insect was dedicated to the Virgin and called "Beetle of our Lady."

Aphids
Aphids are found on almost all plants, shrubs and trees. Only constant vigilance keeps them down. Lady Bugs eat them, hard rains and dry weather both destroy them but even so a contact spray like black leaf 40 must be used to keep them in check or they may destroy the Victory Garden. Frequent spraying is sometimes necessary.

The "fly away home" poem comes from the practice in England of burning hop vines after harvest to kill the aphids. "Little Nan who sits in a pan, weaving laces as fast as she can" is the yellow pupa of the Lady Bird Beetle.
